The Important Apostrophe: Their, They're, and There

The words their, they're, and there are often confused. They sound the same, but they have entirely different meanings. Their is possessive, showing something that belongs a group of people: they. They're is a contraction of the words they are. The apostrophe shows that the letter 'a' is missing. There is an adverb that shows a location or a pronoun that works at the beginning of a phrase or sentence.

Tip: To know which word is correct, try the sentence using the words they are. If the sentence makes sense, then they're is the correct usage. If the sentence does not make sense, see if the the sentence is speaking about something belonging to someone or something. In that case use their. If the sentence is talking about a location, use there. If the word is used with a form of the verb to be, such as is, are, were or was, you also use there.

Part I. Read each sentence below. If their, they're or there is used correctly in the sentence, circle right in the blank. If their, they're or there is not used correctly, circle wrong.
